

What is Building Permit Coordination?

Stanley Nakamura, AIA (January 2018)

Building Permit Coordination occurs before the Construction Documents are submitted to the Building Department.

Building Permit Coordination can be achieved through the service of the Architect or the General Contractor.

Building Permit Coordination dissipates any unforeseen information required by the Building Department.

Building Permit Coordination informs the Building Owner of other required Permit(s) for the project.

Building Permit Coordination shortens the waiting period of the project review from the Building Department.

Building Permit Coordination can resolve project related questions asked by the Building Department.

Building Permit Coordination allows for a smooth transition to a Building Permit for Construction.
